

Decoding <B>

Here we continue the process of working out what needs to be done for various modules depending on the instruction being executed and the state we're in. <B> targets the status flags, the ALU and the general registers. The work done here is as much routing as calculation.

